

Bridging the James River

Unable to lure Lee into open battle, Grant changes his tactics. Steathily shifting his forces away from Cold Harbor and across the James River, he now seeks to cut the Confederate supply lines to Petersburg and Richmond.