

"Beecher's Bible"

The .52 caliber Sharps carbine was shipped to anti-slavery settlers in Kansas in boxes labeled "Bibles." The weapon's nickname came from abolitionist preacher Henry Ward Beecher, who believed that there was "more moral power in one [carbine] ... than in a hundred Bibles."