

Lincoln's ally

Senator Charles Sumner had much in common with Lincoln. Both were opponents of slavery, and though Sumner sometimes clashed with Lincoln over matters of policy, he never lost confidence in him.