

A man in a brown jumpsuit, identified as Migs Mayfeld, stands on a pile of scrap metal. He is wearing a headlamp and has a serious expression. To his right is a large, dark, mechanical wheel with a complex, multi-spoked design. The background is filled with various pieces of scrap metal and debris. A callout line points from the text box to the man's jumpsuit.

Mayfeld in prison worker attire

A man in a brown jumpsuit, identified as Migs Mayfeld, stands on a pile of scrap metal. He is wearing a headlamp and has a serious expression. To his right is a large, dark, mechanical wheel with a complex, multi-spoked design. The background is filled with various pieces of scrap metal and debris. A callout line points from the text box to the pile of scrap metal.

Scrap metal

KARTHON CHOP FIELDS

The Karthon Chop Fields are a New Republic site where prisoners are used as laborers and are overseen by N5 sentry droids. Migs Mayfeld ends up here after Mando leaves him in a New Republic prison cell, and is later rescued by Mando as well.