

A single well-placed shot destroys
the base

An aerial view of a large industrial complex, the Morak Base, situated on a rocky, mountainous terrain. A massive explosion is occurring in the center of the base, with bright orange and red flames and thick black smoke billowing upwards. A teal arrow points from a text box in the upper left corner to the explosion. The base features various industrial structures, including pipes, tanks, and buildings. In the background, there are more industrial structures and a body of water.

MORAK BASE

The Imperial refinery is a vital part of the mining hub on Morak, so it is protected by a platoon of troopers and anti-aircraft cannons.

Inside the base there is an internal Imperial computer that Mayfeld can use to locate Moff Gideon's cruiser.