

KRILL FARMERS

On the forest world of Sorgan, many locals make a living by farming small crustaceans called krill. These blue animals can be used to make a range of things from a dye to a beverage. One village has farmed krill for generations.

WINTA

Omera's daughter Winta is fun and kind. She has many friends in the village and enjoys playing with Grog.

