Apple iOS 27 to bring major Apple Intelligence overhaul

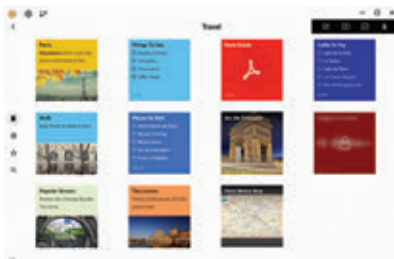

Apple is reportedly preparing a major evolution of Apple Intelligence for iOS 27, expected to be revealed at WWDC 2026, after delaying several AI features originally planned for iOS 26. The new update is believed to focus on deeper, system wide intelligence that works consistently across iOS, macOS and watchOS, enabling better context awareness and richer automation. Before that larger overhaul, iOS 26.4 set to arrive early next year is expected to deliver a significant Siri upgrade with improved reasoning, smoother natural language responses and faster performance. Though Apple has not confirmed these details, reports suggest the company may be rethinking its AI roadmap by blending stronger cloud assisted capabilities with its long standing emphasis on privacy and on device processing. tinyurl.com/fe991r
