

The Buddhist Crisis

Relations between Diem, a devout Catholic, and South Vietnam's Buddhists had always been strained. When government troops opened fire on a crowd of Buddhist protesters in Hue on May 8, 1963, the incident precipitated a nationwide crisis.