

Celebrating the fall

Two South Vietnamese boys jump on the dismembered head of a statue in Saigon on November 5, 1963. Symbolic of Diem's fallen regime, the head bore the face of Diem's powerful and much-hated sister-in-law, Madame Nhu.