Antiwar protests

Protesters prepare an unfriendly welcome for President Johnson on a visit to Sydney, Australia, in October 1966. Johnson was plagued by similarly hostile demonstrations wherever he traveled, whether in the United States or abroad.