

Mementos and Memorabilia

Many veterans returned home from Vietnam with small tokens to remind them of their experience. These war souvenirs most often commemorated the friendships they had made and the people they had fought alongside.