

1967				1968
SEPTEMBER 3 Nguyen Van Thieu wins a presidential election to become constitutional ruler of South Vietnam.	OCTOBER 21-23 More than 30,000 antiwar protesters march on the Pentagon in Washington, D.C.	NOVEMBER 29 Defense Secretary Robert McNamara resigns after his proposal to scale down American involvement in the war are rejected.	JANUARY 5 Operation Niagara I begins, making intelligence about the movement of NVA forces surrounding the Khe Sanh Marine base in northern South Vietnam.	MARCH 2 The battle for Hue ends in a victory for American and ARVN forces.			APRIL 30-MAY 3 US Marines repulse a major invasion by North Vietnamese troops across the DMZ in the Battle of Dai Do (or Dong Ho).	JULY 3 General Creighton Abrams replaces General Westmoreland as commander of US forces in Vietnam.	OCTOBER 8 Operation Sea Lions is launched, a long-term campaign by US and South Vietnamese naval and marine forces against Viet Cong supply lines and bases in the Mekong Delta.
		DECEMBER 4 Police arrest hundreds of antiwar protesters as they attempt to block an armed forces draft induction center in New York.	JANUARY 21 The NVA besieges the Khe Sanh Marine base. The US responds with an aerial assault of the base and bombardment of NVA positions.			MARCH 16 An intense search and destroy operations are carried out in the wake of the Sea Offensive. American soldiers rescues hundreds of Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.	APRIL 1 Operation Ragdoll begins, an advance by US troops along Route 9 to relieve the siege of the Marine base at Khe Sanh.	APRIL 11 Defense Secretary Clark Clifford tells General Westmoreland he will not be given the extra troops he has asked the needs to win the war.	MAY 5-27 In the "Minh Son" Offensive, the Viet Cong carries out attacks against 319 targets across South Vietnam, including the Cholon district of Saigon and Tan Son Nhut airbase.
SEPT 11- OCT 31 The US Marine base at Con Thien, near the DMZ, successfully resists a siege by NVA forces and prolonged heavy artillery bombardment.	SEPTEMBER 29 Speaking in San Antonio, Texas, President Johnson offers to end the bombing of North Vietnam if the North Vietnamese will enter peace negotiations.	OCT 29-NOV 7 An attack by the Viet Cong against a military outpost at Loc Ninh near the Cambodian border is repelled with heavy losses.		FEBRUARY 1 US and ARVN commandos begin, making Tan Son Nhut airbase in Saigon.	FEBRUARY 11-17 With the highest week's death toll of the war, 543 American soldiers are killed.	MARCH 7 The battle for Saigon ends with the fleeing of Viet Cong guerrillas from the city.		APRIL 8 The Operation Ragdoll relief force joins up with the Marines at Khe Sanh, ending the siege after 77 days.	JULY 1 The controversial Phoenix Program is initiated to identify and eliminate Viet Cong political activists in South Vietnam.	AUGUST 26-29 Antiwar protests disrupt the Democratic National Convention at Chicago, leading to violent confrontations between demonstrators and police.	NOVEMBER 5 Republican candidate Richard Nixon wins the US presidential election, claiming to have a plan to end the war.	DECEMBER 1 In the peace pact, there are 495,000 US military personnel in Vietnam. American deaths for the year total 16,899.

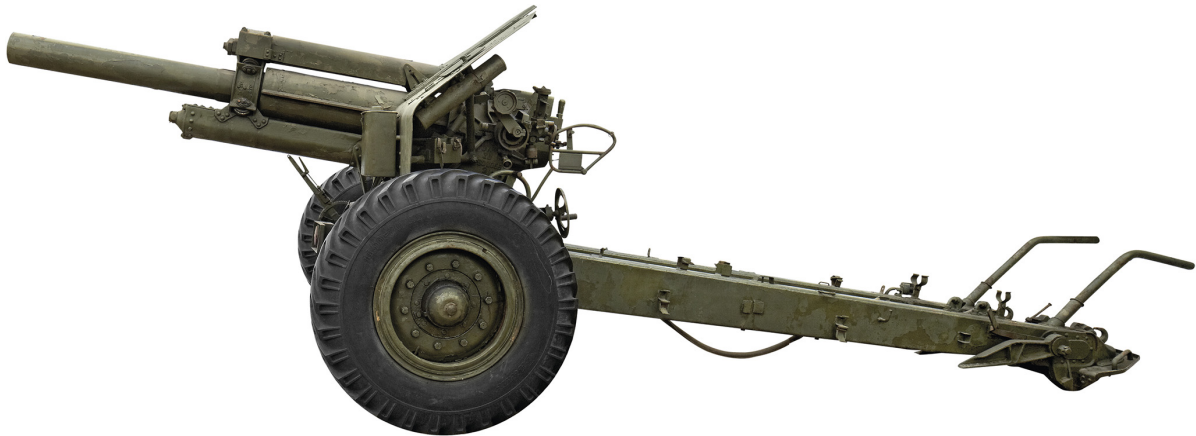

1967

SEPTEMBER 3

Nguyen Van Thieu wins a presidential election to become constitutional ruler of South Vietnam.

SEPT 11- OCT 31

The US Marine base at Con Thien, near the DMZ, successfully resists a siege by NVA forces and prolonged heavy artillery bombardment.

NVA 122 mm M1938 Howitzer

SEPTEMBER 29

Speaking in San Antonio, Texas, President Johnson offers to end the bombing of North Vietnam if the North Vietnamese will enter peace negotiations.

OCTOBER-DECEMBER

After targeting restrictions on US bombing of North Vietnam are dropped, the US conducts widespread raids on bridges and other transportation links, power plants, and factories.

OCTOBER 21-23

More than 30,000 antiwar protesters march on the Pentagon in Washington, D.C.

OCT 29-NOV 7

An attack by the Viet Cong against a military outpost at Loc Ninh near the Cambodian border is repelled with heavy losses.