

Air agility

The First Cavalry Division led the relief of Khe Sanh. This shoulder patch recalls the division's descent from horse-mounted cavalry, used for the last time in World War I and also valued for agility and rapid response.