

U.S. Opens 3rd Cambodia Drive

RACING
ENTRIES

Los Angeles Times

TUESDAY

FINAL

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN THE WEST, RELEASED DAILY, 1,317,218 MONDAY

108 PAGES

Copyright © 1970
DAILY 10c

VOL. LXXXIX SEVEN PARTS—PART ONE

TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 5, 1970

4 STUDENTS SLAIN

Troops Open Fire on Ohio Campus

IN KENT, OHIO—National guardsmen advance during clash in which four students were killed.

KENT, Ohio (UPI)—Four students were shot to death on the Kent State University campus Monday when national guardsmen, believing a sniper had attacked them, fired into a crowd of rising antiwar protesters. At least 11 persons were wounded, three critically, before order was restored. The university was shut down for at least a week.

The town of 18,000 was sealed off and a judge ordered the university closed. By late Monday, the town of 18,000 students to leave the campus by noon Tuesday. By late Monday, 20,000 students to leave the campus by noon Tuesday. By late Monday, 20,000 students to leave the campus by noon Tuesday.

campus confrontation after the antiwar movement began. The trouble started when about 1,000 demonstrators, defying an order not to assemble, gathered on the campus at the Kent State University. Guardsmen moved in and fired tear gas at the mob, which then fled and ran.

The protesters then regrouped and continued about 100 yards from a practice football field. The crowd, which was estimated at 1,200, charged down a hill and pulled the troops with rocks. Guardsmen responded by firing tear gas and then fired their rifles. Guardsmen, who moved back the protesters, surrounded the troops on three sides.

Believes Sniper Fired
Then, according to S. T. Del Corso, state adjutant general, "a sniper opened fire against the guardsmen from a nearby rooftop." Del Corso, who was in Columbus, Ohio, said that he believed that the sniper was a member of the Kent State University. He said that he believed that the sniper was a member of the Kent State University.

Student eyewitnesses said they did not hear any gunfire before the guardsmen began shooting. They said that they saw a student being shot. They said that they saw a student being shot.

Plains Turn to Page 6, Col. 1

Large S. Viet-U.S. Force Opens Third Cambodia Offensive

RANGOON (AP)—Thousands of American and South Vietnamese troops launched a third offensive into northeastern Cambodia today, seeking to drive the North Vietnamese out of the area. The offensive was the largest since the start of the war. The offensive was the largest since the start of the war.

All Reservations Are Targets
Defense Secretary Melvin Laird said in Washington Sunday that all North Vietnamese and Viet Cong bases in Cambodia would be attacked by the U.S. and South Vietnamese forces. The offensive was the largest since the start of the war.

THE WEATHER
U.S. Weather Bureau forecast: High and partly cloudy with light rain; low 64 and 68. High today: 70. High Sunday: 80.

IN CAMBODIA—American soldiers try to spot enemy through rubber trees in the Fuhbok region.

Hopes Rise for End to Teacher Strike

BY HARRY WEINSTEIN
The Los Angeles teachers' strike, which has lasted for more than a month, may be over by the weekend. The strike has been a major problem for the city of Los Angeles. The strike has been a major problem for the city of Los Angeles.

THE WEATHER
U.S. Weather Bureau forecast: High and partly cloudy with light rain; low 64 and 68. High today: 70. High Sunday: 80.

DEATH ON THE CAMPUS—A student shot at Kent State University.

WAR SITUATION AT A GLANCE

The stock market took a heavy beating Monday, reacting to news of U.S. action in Cambodia. The Dow Jones industrial average dropped 10.87, Part 2, Page 1.

U.S. troops await through Cambodia. Fuhbok region, which has been the scene of a major offensive, is being fought. Page 2.

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin called for a ceasefire in the U.S. out of Indochina. Page 10.

Official Washington, however, noted that Kosygin gave no indication of any Russian action to counter the United States. Page 10.

For Red China, U.S. action was "a hostile provocation." Page 10.

New U.S. Air Raids Halted Over North, but Option Remains

BY TED DELL
WASHINGTON—A new bombing campaign against North Vietnam was publicly declared today, but defense sources said that a new policy of air strikes would be used only if the situation warranted it.

The formal announcement, by Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, said that the U.S. would use its air power to support the ground forces in Cambodia. The U.S. would use its air power to support the ground forces in Cambodia.

Under the new policy, the U.S. would use its air power to support the ground forces in Cambodia. The U.S. would use its air power to support the ground forces in Cambodia.

It was announced that the U.S. would use its air power to support the ground forces in Cambodia. The U.S. would use its air power to support the ground forces in Cambodia.

Plains Turn to Page 18, Col. 1

INDEX TO THE TIMES Page 2, Col. 1

Young martyrs

Four students were killed and nine more were wounded during 13 seconds of gunfire at Kent State. Only two of the four students killed, Jeffrey Miller and Allison Krause, had actually taken part in protests.

Both sides rally

Protests over the incursion showed a national divide. On the antiwar side, the Vietnam Veterans against the War (VVAW) expressed their discontent. In February 1971, they conducted the "Winter Soldier Investigation," a public forum in which speakers detailed the misconduct they had witnessed. "Operation Dewey Canyon III" followed in April—during which veterans in green fatigue shirts tossed medals earned in Vietnam across police barricades and onto the steps of the Capitol. Lieutenant John Kerry, a Navy veteran,