

Standing by for action

US Marines train in 1972, using helicopters and amphibious vehicles. By this point in the war, the last US Marines in Vietnam were preparing to stand down, or training the ARVN, but the prospect of a new North Vietnamese offensive saw numbers increase, readying for combat.