

Linebacker I

From the beginning of the war, the bombing of North Vietnam had been the United States' major means of hitting directly at the North. The Rolling Thunder campaign had ended in 1968, with only sporadic later bombing. In early 1972, a new air campaign was planned.