

Struggling leader

South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu was a decorated soldier, whose ascent to power was supported by the ARVN. However, his capability as a general was questioned after the loss of the Central Highlands, and as a politician he was not particularly beloved by his people.