

EXTERIOR

The M1A2 is one of the heaviest main battle tanks in the world—partly due to its formidable composite armor, which has been further improved by the addition of depleted uranium mesh at the front of the hull and turret. This extraordinary armor offers protection against all known antitank weapons.

1. Towing eye 2. Road wheel hub 3. Road wheels and track 4. Track with rubber pads 5. Commander's (left) and loader's hatches 6. Commander's cupola 7. Loader's 7.62mm M240 machine gun 8. Common Remotely Operated Weapons Station vent 9. Nuclear, Biological, and Chemical protection system vent 10. Vapor Compression System Unit, part of the Thermal Management System 11. Infantry phone 12. Drive sprocket

