Laos continued to be a target during the Vietnam War as a result of North Vietnamese incursions there.

FREQUENT TARGET

When the American war in Vietnam began, US ground troops stayed out of Laos. American aircraft did not. From 1964 until the 1975 ceasefire, US aircraft flew 580,944 missions over Laos, dropping a staggering 2,093,100 tons of bombs on the country to combat the communist threat. This made Laos the most heavily bombed place in the history of the Earth.
