

AUGUST 1956

North Vietnamese leader Ho Chi Minh admits serious errors were made in a communist land reform program that provoked rural uprisings.

Ho Chi Minh, leader of North Vietnam

MAY 9, 1957

President Diem addresses the US Congress during a state visit to the United States.

JANUARY 1958

US officials in South Vietnam express concern about the repressive nature of Diem's regime and mounting opposition to the government in the countryside.

MARCH 1959

The North Vietnamese politburo decides to support and promote a guerrilla uprising in South Vietnam.