

“Nothing could prepare you for the sight of the mangled bodies.”

MARGUERITE GIROUX, NURSE, THIRD SURGICAL HOSPITAL, BIEN HOA, 1965–66

» AFTER

In 1993, a new statue honoring the contribution of military women was dedicated at the Vietnam Veterans Memorial.

THEY WERE VETERANS TOO

Paid for through public donations, Glenna Goodacre’s Vietnam Women’s Memorial statue shows three nurses aiding a wounded soldier. While not exclusively for nurses, this memorial highlights their contributions.

Like soldiers, many of these nurses experienced difficulty readjusting to life at home. Judy Marron was an extreme example of this difficulty: alienated and plagued by alcohol abuse, she later died by suicide.

VIETNAM WOMEN'S MEMORIAL