

One Pioneering Night, 55 Trophies For Innovation

The inaugural Digit India's Top Appliance Awards were handed out in New Delhi on 7 August 2026, presented by Times Network and powered by Haier, with Oneup Trade as co-powering partner, LG as strategic partner, Selsmart as sustainability partner and Heights as outdoor partner. A total of 55 awards went out across refrigerators, air conditioners, washing machines, televisions, purifiers, vacuum cleaners, dishwashers, microwaves and home security – plus eight Excellence honours recognising brands rather than products.

What made the evening unusual was that Digit showed its working. Before the first trophy moved, the room was walked through how these products are actually assessed: hands-on evaluation at Digit's own facilities, category-specific methodologies rather than one common yardstick, and a requirement that every shortlisted product be officially on sale in India. Specifications were treated as claims to be checked, not credentials to be accepted.

The two political speakers pulled in opposite and complementary

DR JITENDRA SINGH

Union Minister for Science and Technology, Earth Sciences, MoS PMO, PP/DoPT, Atomic Energy and Space

“Today we are among the first few countries to be in quantum technology. The fourth industrial revolution is going to be AI-driven and biotechnology-driven. And it has already started. Within five years, one of our startups is not only sending a rocket up but has also become a unicorn. We only need to change our mindset.”

directions. Dr Jitendra Singh, the evening's chief guest, spoke outward and forward – quantum, biotechnology, a space economy compounding fast on the back of private participation. Brajesh Pathak, guest of

BRAJESH PATHAK

Deputy Chief Minister, Uttar Pradesh

“A poor man buys a refrigerator once; a middle-class man buys it once, so it should last at least 20 years. Either you buy back that refrigerator or find some way to upgrade it and give it back to us in a modern form. If you resolve the hardships of the customers, your sales will also increase.”

honour, spoke inward and domestic – refrigerators that should outlast a mortgage, air conditioners that stop dripping on the neighbours, and the argument that solving a customer's irritation is itself a growth strategy.
