BUY/SELL WITH RSI AND VOLUME OSCILLATOR

Strategy video

An intraday trader with no trading plan has a high probability of eroding his capital.

Trader with a plan.

When a trade is taken completely out of discretion, emotions are involved. A trading plan can be made either using indicators or purely price action.

When it is purely based on price action, there are no statistics and data involved.

Whereas, when an indicator is used calculations provide a value which is then called a Buy or Sell signal.

Indicator

In my trading journey, I have always used price action for trading, but, the accuracy I have got with indicators is unmatched. It has been years of using indicators and I have seen many market cycles. While I'm not a proponent of technical indicators, the truth can't be denied.
