

On 9th May 2023, the CPR was wide, indicating a range-bound market. The area between the resistance level and the CPR level is the range for the price. When the market opened gap up and tried to move beyond the resistance 1 level, the resistance acted strong and pushed the price below it. The top central pivot acted like a support and the price pivoted from the level.