

As price on expiry moves beyond ₹1100, the payoff on the option that we had sold starts to increase. This happens by the exact same amount as we receive on the call option that we had purchased. This is why we can say that the maximum profits are limited in this strategy.