

The challenge with hedging is that it is too EXPENSIVE. The cost of an hedge is too high for us to keep our portfolio too hedged. We can only have hedges during uncertain times which are hard to predict. However, if done well, hedging is one of the most important methods of risk management.