

Mangaluru man loses ₹58 lakh while trying to sell old coins online

Imagine scrolling through Facebook, coming across an ad that promises to buy your old coins for a great price. It sounds like an easy way to make some extra money, right? This is exactly what a man from Mangaluru thought when he saw such an advertisement. Little did he know, this seemingly harmless opportunity would lead him into a trap, costing him Rs 58.26 lakh. The ordeal began on November 25 when the victim saw an advertisement on Facebook offering to buy old coins for a good price. Intrigued by the offer, he contacted the WhatsApp number provided in the ad. The scammer initially asked for a small fee of Rs 750 to kickstart the process. <https://tinyurl.com/2w7u4c3z>

How 'Timeout Error' allowed robbers to steal ₹2.52 lakh from SBI ATM

ATM transactions are something we all rely on for quick and easy cash withdrawals. But what if this convenience is turned into a tool for fraud? In a shocking incident from Thiruvananthapuram, two unidentified men managed to steal Rs 2.52 lakh from an SBI ATM without even deducting money from any customer's account. Keep reading to know how they pulled off this clever scam and how it was uncovered. Between June 2022 and July 2023, the suspects targeted an SBI ATM on Padmavilasam Road in Fort. <https://tinyurl.com/2w3dcdny>

This new call merging scam can wipe out your entire life savings

Imagine receiving a call from someone who claims to have an exciting opportunity or an event invite for you. They say they got your number from a friend and that your friend is trying to reach you from another number. Sounds harmless, right? But what if this is a trap to steal your money? A new call merging scam is making the rounds, and it can drain your bank account before you even realise it. The Unified Payments Interface (UPI), developed by the National Payments Corporation of India (NPCI), has issued an urgent warning about this scam on its X (formerly Twitter) account. <https://tinyurl.com/p54f9u3n>

Pune police constable loses ₹2.3 lakh in QR scam

A Pune police constable lost more than Rs 2.3 lakh after falling victim to a QR-code scam. Saswad resident was attempting to make a simple payment for a few items he had purchased from a local bakery. However, what began as a normal transaction turned into a nightmare when unauthorised transactions emptied his bank accounts, including his gold loans account. The constable discovered more about the fraud when he noticed an unauthorised debit of Rs 18,755 from his bank account. After further investigation, he discovered that Rs 12,250 had been withdrawn from his salary account. This was not all; he later discovered that an unauthorised transaction of Rs 1.9 lakh from his gold loan account occurred. <https://tinyurl.com/3sbc7st2>

Engineer loses ₹51 lakh in bitcoin scam

In today's world, scams are becoming more sophisticated, and many people fall victim to them without even realising it until it's too late. One such case recently came to light in Rourkela, where a 38-year-old junior engineer working with the state government lost Rs 51 lakh in a cryptocurrency investment scam. The victim, a native of Ganjam district, is currently posted in the Bonai area of Sundargarh district. The fraudsters, operating under the name "GBE Transaction Group 603," lured the engineer into the scam by promising huge returns from bitcoin investments. The scam started in March when the engineer received a WhatsApp link from the scammers, offering bitcoin investment opportunities. The engineer decided to invest Rs 10,000 after being assured of good returns. However, he was later informed that he had lost this amount. <https://tinyurl.com/6pwnccbe>