

Romance and Job Offer Scams with a Fintech Twist

YOU ARE IN!! But, you have to pay a small enrollment fee

With the rise of digital communication, scammers have found new ways to exploit human emotions and financial vulnerabilities. Romance and job offer scams have taken on a fintech twist, preying on individuals seeking love or career opportunities. Fraudsters use elaborate tactics to gain trust, eventually manipulating victims into making financial transactions.

In India, thousands fall victim to such scams every year. According to the National Cyber Crime Reporting Portal, romance scams accounted for significant losses in 2023, with cases involving fake job offers also surging. These scams not only cause financial damage but also lead to severe emotional distress. This chapter will expose how scammers operate, highlight key warning signs, and provide actionable steps to protect yourself.

How scammers operate?

Fake job offers requiring security deposits

One of the most prevalent scams in recent years involves fraudulent job offers that require candidates to pay a deposit before employment.