

Ace your 2026 productivity resolutions

Turn AI into your daily planner and secretary

If Chapter 1 was about getting your body in shape, this one is about getting your day in shape.

Most productivity advice boils down to “plan better, focus more, stop procrastinating.” If that actually worked, your to-do list wouldn’t look like a Netflix “Continue Watching” row of half-finished tasks.

The good news is that with AI chatbots like ChatGPT Go,

Gemini, and Perplexity, plus your existing calendar and notes apps, you can build a lightweight personal operations system that does three things really well:

1. Turns vague intentions into a concrete daily/weekly plan
2. Helps you prioritise and automate the boring parts
3. Acts as a non-judgy accountability buddy when your brain wants to scroll instead of ship