

14 > Personal Management Apps

negative (like eating junk food).

- Dailies: Recurring tasks you want to complete each day (e.g., studying for 30 minutes).
- To-Dos: One-time tasks (e.g., booking a train ticket).

3. Earn Rewards and Level Up

- Each time you complete a positive habit or daily task, you gain gold and experience points.
- Missing tasks or doing a negative habit causes your avatar to lose health.
- Use your gold to buy in-game items or custom rewards you define (like “30 minutes of video game time”).

Pro Tip: Join parties or guilds within Habitica to team up with friends, tackle group challenges, and stay accountable.*

Trello

Trello simplifies project management and personal organization with its intuitive board-and-card system. Whether you’re planning a family event, managing work projects, or coordinating a household chore list, Trello’s drag-and-drop interface keeps everything visual and straightforward.

1. Create a Board

- Tap the plus icon to start a new board.
- Give it a name – e.g., “Personal Goals,” “Travel Planning,” or “Home Renovations.”

2. Add Lists

- Lists act like columns on a board: for example, “To Do,” “In Progress,” and “Done.”
- You can add more lists for different categories or stages.

3. Create Cards

- Under each list, create cards for specific tasks or ideas.
- For instance, under “To Do,” add cards such as “Research hotels” or “Buy groceries.”

4. Add Details

- Tap a card to open it. You can add descriptions, due dates, checklists, file attachments, and labels.
- For collaborative tasks, tag users so they know their responsibilities.

5. Move Cards Between Lists

- As tasks progress, drag and drop cards to the relevant list (from “To Do” to “In Progress” to “Done”).

Pro Tip: Explore Trello’s Power-Ups for integrations with apps like Google Drive or Slack, and use its calendar view to get a timeline of all your due dates.*

Notion

Notion is an all-in-one workspace combining note-taking, database management, project planning, and collaboration tools. It’s popular for its flexibility – letting you create anything from a simple to-do list to a complex personal dashboard.

1. Start a New Page

- Upon signing in, create a new page (e.g., “My Personal Hub”).
- Select from Notion’s built-in templates or start from scratch.

2. Add Different Blocks

- Each section of your page is a “block” and can be text, a to-do list, a toggle list, or a database.
- For a personal dashboard, you might include:
 - A “Daily Tasks” section (to-do list block)
 - A “Week at a Glance” calendar
 - A “Habit Tracker” table

3. Build Databases

- Databases in Notion let you create spreadsheets or kanban boards within your pages.
- For example, a “Reading List” with columns for book title, author, genre, and notes.

4. Use Linked Databases

- Notion allows you to show the same database in multiple views (e.g., as a list in one page and a calendar in another).
- This keeps information synced wherever you display it.

5. Collaborate (If Needed)

- Invite friends, family, or team members to specific pages.
- Control permissions to allow editing or just viewing.

Pro Tip: Use Notion’s powerful templates for goal tracking, financial budgeting, or even meal planning. You can customize them to match exactly how you like to manage your life.*

TickTick

TickTick is a task manager that packs a surprising number of