

Cesare, also a musician, and in 1599 married a singer, Claudia Cattaneo, daughter of a fellow court musician, with the duke's blessing. Cattaneo may have been one of the duke's mistresses whom he had tired of and wished to set up with a suitable husband, but evidence on this is scant.

CREMONA CATHEDRAL

Monteverdi's long and successful career in music began when, as a teenager, he was invited to be a pupil of the director of music at Cremona cathedral.
