

Guido d'Arezzo

c. 991–c. 1033, ITALIAN

While serving as a Benedictine monk, Guido developed innovative methods for learning the chants of the services, as well as a system of writing music on which modern Western notation is based.