

PRINCESS CAROLYNE

The noblewoman and writer Princess Carolyne Sayn-Wittgenstein met Liszt in Kiev in 1847.

Her attempts to secure an annulment of her marriage so that she could marry Liszt were unsuccessful.

Although he gave the premiere of his First Piano Concerto in 1855, by this time he seldom played the piano in public, never for a fee, and usually only to support a charitable cause of his choosing.

“His personal magnetism is immense, and I
