

R. Vaughan Williams

1872–1958, BRITISH

Vaughan Williams created an English national music that blended classical tradition with two home-grown cultural resources: the great composers of the Tudor and Elizabethan eras, and the world of English folk song.