

Manuel de Falla

1876–1946, SPANISH

A leading figure in the nationalist revival of Spanish music in the early 20th century, Falla blended traditional folk melodies with modern harmony and orchestration to create vibrant works of universal appeal.