

▼ RELATED CAREERS

- ▶ PROJECT MANAGER see pp. 82–83
- ▶ SYSTEMS ANALYST see pp. 120–121
- ▶ DATABASE ADMINISTRATOR see pp. 122–123
- ▶ NETWORK ENGINEER see pp. 124–125
- ▶ CALL CENTER MANAGER Manages the daily operation of telephone call-center staff, who deal with client and customer queries and complaints, and sell products or services over the telephone. There is strong demand for call center managers in industries such as IT, mobile telephony, and financial services, such as banking and insurance.

SKILLS GUIDE

Excellent communication skills to ensure problems are understood and resolved efficiently.

The capacity to work well in a team and identify serious issues for managers and IT specialists.

Good management skills to guide IT support staff, and the ability to influence senior managers.

The application of technical skills and a logical approach for effective problem-solving.

Expertise in IT programs, systems, and networks, and the capacity to learn quickly on the job.

NETWORK SUPPORT ENGINEER

Provides hardware and software support for users of telephone and computer networks, both in person and on the telephone.

DESKTOP SUPPORT EXECUTIVE

Delivers IT user support across a particular business area, such as retail or banking, to resolve systems faults and user problems.

WEBSITE HOSTING EXECUTIVE

Works for a website hosting firm, providing 24-hour IT support for users who have purchased server space from the company for their website or email services.

SERVICE DESK MANAGER Manages a team of staff who are responsible for delivering support for IT applications and business services, ensuring that targets and client expectations are met or exceeded.

IT SUPPORT EXECUTIVE Working in this role gives insight into all the IT functions of an organization, so sideways moves into related IT jobs are common. You can also specialize in a technical area, such as network support, or industry.