

SCIENCE AND RESEARCH

The scientific sector comprises a broad range of specializations suited to people with an inquiring mind, an analytical approach, and an excitement for making new discoveries. In these fields, you could be developing vaccines, discovering marine life, or launching satellites into space.