

All these will open up their mind for experimentation. Experimentation means investing in an asset class as an experiment rather than an investment. So, we begin by investing Rs. 1,000 in the equities. This will not be anything meaningful from an investment perspective but it will be a start. Over time, we can increase our investment in the asset class as comfort and support from family increases. Win their support by logic and not by emotions. It takes around a few months to a year but in most cases, it works.
