

This is how it will work: we will first receive all the money i.e. salary, profits etc. in our 'Income and Expense Account'. Then we will segregate it between expenses and investments. The expenses piece will remain in the account, and everything else will be moved to the 'Financial Plan Account'.

The shift should be automatic i.e. we must set on a fixed part of our salary that will be required for regular day to day expenses and the rest will be shifted towards the financial plan. We will not allow ourselves to change the amount every month at our convenience.
