

We had discussed earlier that we will be creating a base plan using mutual funds. So, once we decide the debt and equity allocation for each goal, we will select the correct categories within debt and equity.

We are not talking about direct equity or fixed income over here because we are aware that these are only for those who have adequate skill and time. However, for most individuals, mutual funds are a better way because it is not very demanding of time and skills.

