

“You can never benefit alone; the entire company and all its share holders benefit or incur losses together. Even though we only own a small portion of the company, the entire company has to grow for our value to grow.”