

Why taking a loss is good?

The best option we have is to sell at Rs. 70. Book it as a loss and invest the money in another stock which might rise to Rs. 200.

It is important to understand the difference between a fundamental change and a small hiccup in the business.

- Most retail investors avoid selling at loss. However, selling at loss is a sign of a good investor.
- In this business, you are likely to be wrong rather than right. Therefore, admit your mistake and move your money to a better place rather than trying to recover it same way you lost it.
