

In a trending market, it produces a lot of buys and sells clean signals. However, in a sideways market, they do not work well and give a lot of false moves.