

Source - Trading View

This is yet another falling wedge. We see how closely it resembles descending triangles. We see a bullish breakout. We would have entered this trade as this is a long term wedge and also, there is a good increase in volume at the time of breakout. This shows strength in the trend. And that concludes our segment on rising and falling wedges.