

Source - Trading View

This is an ascending channel. We see that the channel is the relatively shorter-term channel and resistance and support lines have not been tested enough. There is a bearish breakout. We would not have entered this trade as this is short term channel and there is a bearish breakout here. In hindsight, we would have missed out on quite a good trade. But, missing out is much better than incurring a loss. We will never compromise with the rules because 8 out of 10 times, the results in such a breakout will not be in our favor.