

TRENDLINES

Trendlines are used to identify support and resistance levels on custom chart patterns. We find out the asset price gaining support and resistance based on which we enter trades. Trendlines help in figuring out the levels where bulls and bears might be present in abundance even when a fixed chart pattern is not being formed.

