

1811

High fashion This short-sleeved evening dress with sash comprises an overdress with embroidered sequins or bugle beads in circles and swirls, over a yellow silk slip.

1814

Fur trim Pelisses of 1811 were worn to calf length over plain cotton muslin gowns. This Londoner wears one with fur trims on the collar fronts and cuffs.

Costume Parisien This French pelisse coat has vertical, green, woven stripes typifying the era. The higher waistline in Paris influenced English styling.

JEWELLERY

Jewellery was worn extensively for evening. Parures (sets) were admired, and came in presentation boxes. This set of necklace, drop earrings, and brooch of seed pearls on mother-of-pearl adopts the bunch of grapes design so beloved of the neoclassical era. Rings, pendants on chains or ribbons, and matching bracelets were also worn. Cameos and engraved gems were popular as was turquoise, amber, topaz, carnelian, and other semiprecious stones. Gold and metal tiaras and bandeaux (hairbands) and tortoiseshell combs were worn on and in the hair. Bloomed (matte-textured) and chased (relief-decorated) gold, gilt metal, and imitation paste diamonds made fashionable jewellery more affordable.

1816

Fine net Four horizontal, red silk rouleaux give weight to this fine net overdress. The underdress has puffed sleeves and hem ruffles. The delight of a separate transparent overdress was that it could be worn over various colours to create different looks.

Parisian court This dress has a trained overgown of white satin or silver tissue, with coloured foil, point lace, and kid gloves ornamented with "narrow fluted quilling of blond" (lace) as described in La Belle Assemblée magazine.

1817

Brandenburg-fastening pelisse This green pelisse coat is fastened with brandenburgs (decorative loops and buttons). Worn below are a bell-shaped, white skirt, and cambric chemisette with a layered, pleated frill at the neck.
