

“

The designers have forgotten that there are women inside the dresses...Clothes must have a natural shape.

COCO CHANEL, 1928

”

1911–13	1914–16	1917–19	1920–22	1923–25	1926–28
1913 The first modern brassière is patented by New York socialite, Mary Phelps Jacob. Old-fashioned corsets are no longer suitable to wear under new lighter, less formal garments.		1920 The 19th Amendment to the US Constitution gives women the right to vote. Some believe that the women's rights movement affected fashion, promoting androgynous figures and the death of the corset.	1923 The Broadway show Runnin' Wild includes the popular tune "The Charleston". It becomes a dance craze, requiring low-waisted dresses with fullness at the hemline to kick up the heels.
1913 The tango arrives in most European capitals. Jean Paquin designs gowns to be worn for dancing the tango, which are shown during "dress parades" at popular "Tango Teas" held in London.	▲ The Munition Girls by English painter Alexander Stanhope Forbes 1914 World War I begins, ushering in an era of darker colours and simple cuts. Women take over men's jobs, accelerating the trend towards practical garments.		1924 The diplomatic visit of Edward, Prince of Wales to the US popularizes a kind of short breeches for men – plus fours.	1926 The ideal haircut for showcasing cloche hats – is first mentioned in The Times . It is popularized by Josephine Baker, an African-American expatriate singer, dancer, and entertainer, who becomes an overnight sensation at the Folies Bergère music hall.
▼ Tango shoes are designed with criss-crossing straps		1917 Invented by Gideon Sundback in 1913 the zip is finally patented in 1917. It is first used for fastening rubber boots in the 1920s.		1925 Fashion designers make up a large number of the artists who display their luxury wares at the "Exposition Internationale des Arts Décoratifs et Industriels Modernes" in Paris, which gave Art Deco its name.
	1914 Burberry is commissioned to adapt army officer's coats for the trenches. The trenchcoat is born.		1920 The Prohibition Era begins in the US, but is largely ignored by fashionable young men and women of the time. "Flappers" dance the night away to jazz tunes at illegal speakeasies.		▲ Stylized poster portrait of fashion icon Josephine Baker, by Jean Chassaing
1913 Coco Chanel opens a boutique in the French seaside resort, Deauville.	1915 Fashion magazine La Gazette du Bon Ton shows full skirts with hemlines above the ankle. They are called the "war crinoline" by the fashion press, who promote the style as "patriotic" and "practical".		1922 Howard Carter and George Herbert, 5th Earl of Carnarvon, discover the tomb of Ancient Egyptian ruler Tutankhamun. Fashion designers are inspired to use motifs from ancient cultures in their creations.		◀ Dancing the Charleston in cloche hats atop Chicago's Sherman Hotel

