

▲ FLAK 36 AA/AT GUN

Date 1936

Origin Germany

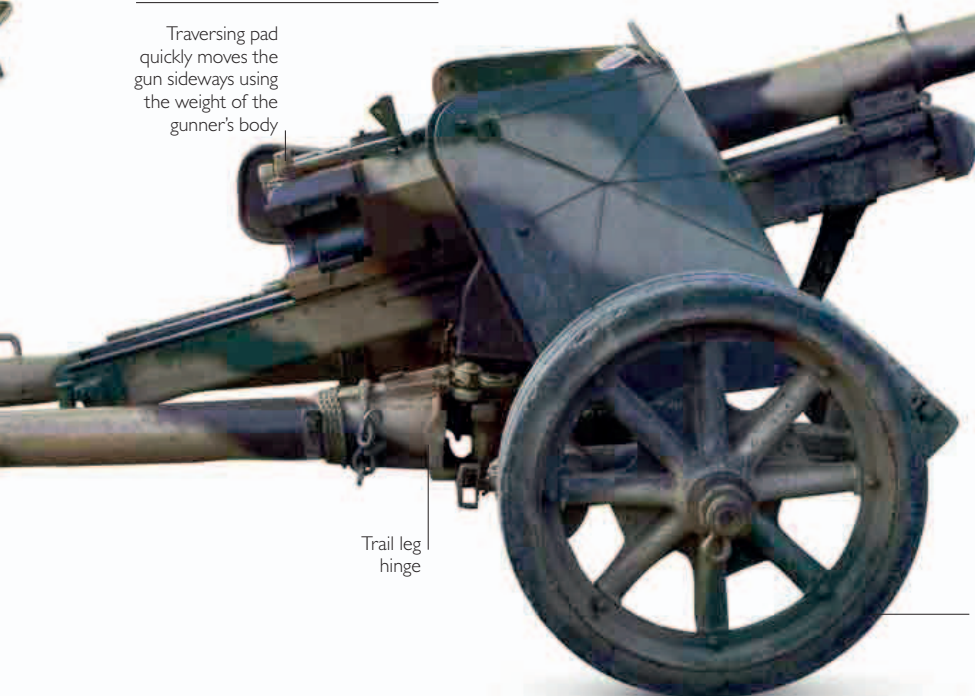

Length (Excluding carriage) 19ft (5.79m)

Caliber 88mm

Armor penetration 6¼in (159mm) at 1,094 yards (1,000m)

Traversing pad quickly moves the gun sideways using the weight of the gunner's body

Designed as an antiaircraft (AA) gun, the famed "88," as it was known, was found to be highly effective as an antitank gun. It could be put in position very quickly—within three minutes—although its bulk and height made it difficult to conceal. It was able to fire up to 20 rounds per minute.

◀ PAK 40 ANTITANK GUN

Date 1942

Origin Germany

Length (Excluding carriage) 20¼ft (6.2m)

Caliber 75mm

Armor penetration 3½in (87mm) at 1,094 yards (1,000m)

This gun was a scaled-up version of the Pak 36 (opposite) and was introduced in 1942 to counter heavy Soviet tanks encountered on the Russian Front. Many German armored vehicles were also equipped with this gun.
